

TIBBERTON.

THIS PARISH lies in the Dutchy Hundred, 3 Miles distant South East from Newent, 5 Miles North East from Dean, and 4 Miles North West from Gloster.

“ Ulfelin held Tebriston in Botelan Hundred, in the Reign of King Edward the Confessor, William the Son of Baderon held it in the Reign of King William the Conqueror. It was taxed at 5 Hides; there were 11 Plow-Tillages, whereof 3 were in Demean; there was a Wood 4 Miles long and 1 Mile broad belonging to it. It paid a yearly Rent of 6*l.* 10*s.* in King Edward's Reign, it paid 100*s.* yearly in King William's Reign. Domesday Book.

William Lunge held Tiberton by one Knight's Fee: Jeffry de Feerre held other Lands in Tiberton at the same time, by the fifth Part of a Knight's Fee; Ralph Marmion held Lands by the eighth Part of a Fee; William Franklyn held Lands by the twentieth Part of a Knight's Fee; and John the Son of Stephen held other Lands in this Place by the fortieth Part of a Knight's Fee: They all held these Lands of Henry Earl of Lancaster 2 E. 3. Many of the Lands within this Hundred did belong to the Dutchy of Lancaster, which gave it the Name of the Dutchy Hundred. King Edward the Third, in the fiftieth Year of his Reign, erected the County of Lancaster, by Act of Parliament, into a County Palatine, and honoured his Son John Duke of Lancaster with it for Term of his Life, and all the Lands which came to him by Blanch his Wife, Daughter to the last Duke of Lancaster, are annex'd to the Dutchy of Lancaster, of which the Mannor of Tiberton was Part. Henry of Lancaster was his Son and Heir, and was afterwards King of England; and because the House of York might again prevail and obtain the Crown, therefore by Act of Parliament in the first Year of his Reign, he severs the Dutchy of Lancaster from the Crown, and entails it on his Heirs; and King Henry the Fifth having great Estates descended to him from Mary his Mother, Daughter and Coheirefs of Humphry de Bohun Earl of Hereford, procures another Act of Parliament to make all those Estates to be also part of the Dutchy of Lancaster.

1327/8
 Henry Duke of Lancaster, descended from King Henry the Third, dyed seized of the Mannor of Tiberton 35 E. 3. He left two Daughters, whereof Blanch was married to John Duke of Lancaster, Son of King Edward the Third. John Duke of Lancaster, and Blanch his Wife, levied a Fine of this Mannor to the Use of themselves in Taile 39 E. 3. King Edward the Fourth levied a Fine of this Mannor to the Use of Elisabeth his Queen 15 E. 4. The Mannor was in the Crown in the Year 1608; Mr. Payne and Mr. Twitty are the present joynt Lords of the Mannor of Tiberton, and keep a Court-Leet. Tibberton's Moor belongs to the Tenants of the Mannor, but Tibberton's Meadow, after the first of August, belongs to the Inhabitants of the Parish. The Abbey of Gloster held Hawker's Place in this Parish, and made a Lease thereof 2 H. 8.

1510
 The CHURCH is in the Forest Deanry; it is a Rectory worth 40*l.* yearly; Mr.

Paine and Mr. Twitty, both of Worster; are joynt Patrons, Mr. Mallet is the present Incumbent. John de Langley held the Advowson of the Church of Tiberton of Henry Earl of Lancaster 2 E. 3.

Clerks.	Patrons.
Nicholas Atkinson,
1572 John Williams,	Queen Elisabeth,
1610 John Andrews,	King James,
1611 Thomas Philpot,	King James,
William Mallet.

	l.	s.	d.
First Fruits	07	16	00
Tenths	00	15	07½
Procurat.	00	10	00
Synodals	00	01	06
Pentecost.	00	01	06

The Church is small, with a low Tower at the West End, covered with Tiles; there are some small parcels of Lands worth 1*l.* 18*s.* yearly, which are given towards the Repair of the Church.

The PARISH is 6 Miles in compass: It consists of good Meadow, Pasture, and Arable-Land. The Brook of Tiberton runs into the Leden.

There are 33 Houses in this Parish, and about 150 Inhabitants, whereof 8 are Freeholders.

Yearly { Births — 5
 { Burials — 5

	l.	s.	d.
Payments { 1692 To the Royal Aid	097	12	00
{ 1694 To the Land-Tax	092	12	00
{ 1694 To the Poll-Tax	010	19	00

TIDDENHAM.

THIS PARISH lyes in the Hundred of Westbury, 1 Mile distant East from Chepstow in Monmouthshire, and 20 Miles South West from Gloster. It is so called from the high Tides which assault both sides of this Parish.

King Offa, about the Year 800, began a great Dyke at Beachly in this Parish, to divide the Kingdom of Mercia from Wales; it passed thro' Flintshire to the River Dee in Cheshire, and still retains the Name of Offa's Dyke.